

Alan Wagner watches with pride as Dr. Charles Thaté, dean of administration, presents the key to the college to Mr. Harold Wagner, "Father of the Year." Bonnie Cameron, co-chairman of the AWS Dad's Day events, waits to present gifts from AWS to the honorees.

Mr. Harold Wagner, Alan Cited As AWS 'Father, Son of Year'

Mr. Harold Wagner and Alan, Grant, Iowa, were named "Father and Son of the Year" by the Associated Women Students at the MSC-Rolla football game last Saturday.

Mr. Wagner was chosen from a field of 17 candidates on the basis of his community activities and his son's campus leadership. He is employed as a custodian in the Griswold Community Schools, Griswold, Iowa, where he also drives a school bus. The honoree is a member of the Iowa Custodians Association and the Grant City Council and serves his community as a volunteer fireman. He has also been active in 4-H club work and has been a member of the Farm Bureau.

Alan, a junior Spanish major, serves as recording secretary for Alpha Phi Omega, men's national service fraternity, and as treasurer for Alpha Mu Gamma, honorary foreign language fraternity. He is also a member of the Student Senate, where he serves on Traffic Court and the election board. His other activities include membership in the Student National Education Association, Marching Band, Tower Choir, Concert Band, and Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education fraternity.

Alan has also served as a freshman orientation leader for two years, has been on the Homecoming committee for two years, and was a committee chairman for last year's Religious Emphasis Week. Last summer he was MSC's ambassador to Greece.

The honorees, sponsored by Kappa Delta Pi, were selected by a committee of three MSC faculty members. The presentation of the "Father and Son of the Year" is made annually as part of the AWS Dad's Day festivities.

Bonnie Cameron and Karen Hardy served as co-chairmen of this year's Dad's Day activities.

New Emphasis Placed On Debate Program

This fall a new emphasis has been placed on the importance of forensics at MSC.

Through the development of the Northwest Missouri State Debate Union, a new effort has been made to make this school an important competitor in the field of debate.

Mr. Greg Gardner, director of forensics, heads the Union. He is being assisted by Miss Jeanine Rishel and Mr. George Hinshaw, speech instructors.

The main purpose of this program is to increase the reputation of Maryville in debate on a nation-wide basis. Emphasis is placed on competition in tournaments all over the country.

To Give Grants

Other projects of the program include the establishment of a scholarship grant-aid program for debaters. This has been coordinated by Dr. Robert Foster, college president; Mr. Everett Brown, assistant to the president; Mr. Max Fuder, financial aid director, and Mr. Gardner.

Letters are also being sent out to high schools in the northern Missouri area inviting debaters to visit the campus for a day. This is part of the effort to encourage prospective debaters to explore the facilities at Maryville.

The debate team has already participated in three tournaments this year. This weekend Glenda Clariday and Thelma Kreiling will compete in a contest at the University of Missouri at Columbia.

On the weekend of Oct. 17-18 MSC debaters Jim Leu and Gerry Sisson competed at the Rockhurst Tournament, one of the top tournaments in the country slated for that weekend. The team compiled a record of one win and five losses.

Team Wins Four

On Oct. 31-Nov. 1 Susan Hunt and Bill Wimmer reached the quarter-finals with a four-one record at Kearney State College. They were finally defeated by the eventual tournament champions from the University of Nebraska.

During the same weekend at Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., Leu and Mary Jo Buster defeated Clemson University and Tulane for a two-six record.

Future tournaments include competition at Harvard, USC, UCLA, Dartmouth College, and Northwestern University. A total of 27 tournaments have been scheduled.

Students participating in debate this year are Steve Bixler and Ross Dixon, freshmen; Miss Hunt, Miss Kreiling, Miss Clariday, Miss Buster, and Eliza Cummins, sophomores; Leu, Wimmer, Vic Jenkins, and Karen Campbell, juniors, and Sisson, a senior.

As part of the debate competition circuit, MSC will host a Dec. 12-13 tournament recently re-named the Show-Me Debates. A new format will be featured at the 12-year-old event.

A concentration on varsity debate will include six preliminary rounds and three elimination rounds beginning with quarter-finals. Results will be announced at a Dec. 13 banquet.

More than 300 schools have been invited to participate in this event.

Yugoslav Folk Troupe To Present Program

"Frula," a Yugoslav folk ensemble, in a second tour of North America, will present its new production of songs and dances at 8 p. m. Monday in the Charles Johnson Theater.

The troupe, including 45 dancers, acrobats, singers, and instrumentalists, is composed of young performers, ranging in age from 12 to 28 years. They were chosen, through auditions, from the best young dancers and singers in the company of 100.

Dragoslav Dzadzevic, one of Yugoslavia's top athletes, film stars, and dancers, is the founder of this folk ensemble. The company maintains a training school to which apprentices are assigned for years of intensive preparation before becoming professional.

"Frula," widely acclaimed for its youthful, good-looks, and vitality, has attained a position of international prominence achieved by few dance companies in a lifetime. According to Dzadzevic, also the choreographer, "The dance, especially folkdance, has universal appeal. Language is not a barrier for us, and people are much the same the world over."

In competition at the World Folk Festival in Moscow, the troupe won first place among the entries from more than 148 nations. It has attained the position of one of the top three folk ensembles in the world during a brief span of six years.

They will include in their program songs and dances from Eastern Europe capturing the various moods of Yugoslavia's inhabitants. During its fall tour, "Frula" will appear on the Ed Sullivan Show.

Navy Offers Juniors Reserve Officer Plan

Lieutenant R. A. Mitchell, the new commanding officer of the Naval Reserve Training Center in St. Joseph, has advised that the Reserve Officer Candidate (ROC) Program has been opened up to college juniors.

The plan is for any student who has at least 60 but not more than 90 hours of college work. Lt. Mitchell has emphasized that students who wish to test for this program do not obligate themselves in any way. The required examination is to see if the students are qualified for this program.

Those who successfully pass the examination and are selected for the program will be enlisted but would not be required to attend reserve meetings. Between their junior and senior year at college, the candidates are required to attend eight weeks of Officer Training at Newport, R. I., and an additional eight weeks of training upon graduation from college. Upon completion of the second period of training the candidates will be commissioned ensigns, USNR.

The career counselor from the Naval Reserve Training Center at St. Joseph will be in the Student Union Monday, Nov. 24, to talk to interested students.

What could be the bond among three college instructors, 80 acres of farm land, and one old shoe?

Well, if these three instructors — Dr. James Gleason, Mr. Richard New, and Mr. Gus Rischer — use the 80 acres for raising horses and other assorted livestock, one connection is made. But how can an old shoe be associated with these men and their land? Would you believe . . .

Dr. Gleason, Mr. New, and Mr. Rischer wanted a farm for their horses. When one became available they decided to buy it. Since this land had various physical features such as ponds, ditches, and buildings, dividing it into three parts could have been a problem. At that point the shoe came into the picture.

Drawing by Lots

The instructors divided their new farm into three parts on the map and numbered each part. They then put the three numbers into an old shoe and drew lots to see how the farm was to be divided.

Since the division of the land, quite a few things have happened on the mini-farms. Dr. Gleason is raising registered Arabian horses; Mr. New, Appaloosa horses and 5 hogs, and Mr. Rischer, registered Appaloosas and some cattle. They plan to expand the numbers of their horses and livestock in the future.

Mr. Richard New, Dr. James Gleason, and Mr. Gus Rischer use an old shoe for getting off on the right foot in their new farming venture.

All three of these educators have intimated that they would like to build new houses on the land in the near future. Mr. Rischer and Mr. New spent some time last summer working on the house that is already on Mr. Rischer's property and entirely remodeled it.

Plan Riding Arena

In the future, Mr. Rischer and Dr. Richard Quinn, also of the staff, plan to build a 100 feet by 200 feet riding arena on Mr. Rischer's land and make a limited number of stalls available to MSC students. The location of the arena and stalls will be convenient for horse-riding enthusiasts from the college, since the farm is only one mile north of the Administration Building.

"Besides being good for horse-raising, the farms are also a good place for child-rearing," one of the professors said. The peaceful country atmosphere that prevails is also "mighty inviting to a tired college instructor after he has been teaching classes all day."

Farm life has done something extraordinary for Mr. Rischer. He is now a magician of sorts. He put two female rabbits in a cage and presto—in six weeks he had 23 rabbits. Now, with a new pair of female rabbits — according to an instructor of the agriculture department — Mr. Rischer is hoping for the best; nevertheless, one of the rabbits is getting bigger every day.

From cooperative buying, to drawing of lots, to rapid multiplication, the men have found that agri-business is a sure way to drive away the doldrums.

Pollees Suggest

Ways to Boost Library Service

Are the facilities of Wells Library adequate to serve 5,000 students? How might they be improved?

In a recent survey these questions were presented to a number of students who expressed their ideas about some possible changes.

The majority of the proposals for change concerned an inadequate selection of reading material in the library. Many of the students desire more modern fiction and poetry, while others thought more reference books should be added. A need for reference volumes in the area of social and natural sciences was also noted.

Want Best Sellers

Several of the pollees believe that books from the best seller list would be enjoyable to students, providing these could arrive in the library while still popular.

Modernization of the card catalog was another frequent suggestion. Many students complained that the books listed in the catalog and the volumes on the shelves don't coincide.

"The stacks need help bad," stated one pollee. Others felt that separation of the fiction and the non-fiction would be beneficial.

A few students also made suggestions about the reserve room. "I think a new way to use the reserve books should be considered. Too often there is only one copy of a book for 30-40 students," commented one coed. Another felt that fines on reserve books are "a little stiff."

Another area which students believe could stand improvement is the periodical room. Some have encountered problems when many magazines are in the bindery at the same time. Others noted that microfilm machines are in such poor condition that reproduced articles are difficult to read.

Want Extended Hours

Other ideas for changes include extension of hours on Sundays and week nights, a system in which receipts would be given for overdue book fines, and a more extensive library orientation program for freshmen.

Not all responses were so critical. A large percentage of those questioned were appreciative of the lounge and study areas. Xerox machines are highly approved. One drawback cited by a sophomore coed was: "Perhaps the rates of duplication could be reduced!"

Shorts' 'Peanuts' Lecture Moved to Auditorium

Mr. Robert Short, author of the nation-wide best seller, "The Gospel According to Peanuts," will speak in a Wesley Center sponsored program at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the Administration Building auditorium.

It was previously announced that Mr. Short would lecture in the Charles Johnson Theater. The talk is open to the public.

Den Status ... Your Responsibility

"The place looks like a pigpen."

"You can't walk in there without stepping on some kind of trash."

The concerned students responsible for these comments were not referring to the slums — they were talking about the Union Den.

Mr. Marvin Silliman, Union Board director, agrees that much of the time, particularly after the noon hour or shortly before closing time, the Den takes on the appearance of a dump. As director, much of the job of maintaining the Den is up to him.

"Right now we're trying to think of ways to handle this problem. We've ordered new waste cartons for both dens, and we might possibly put up signs reminding people to leave a clean table. We can hire all the busboys and provide all the waste containers our funds will permit, but still we can't keep the Den looking neat all the time. That job is up to the students."

Mr. Silliman expressed concern that the Den, in its present state, might be a poor re-

Gamma Sigma Sigma Pledges Begin Service to College

The Alpha Gamma Chapter of Gamma Sigma Sigma, women's service sorority, initiated 12 girls as pledges at a recent meeting.

The new pledges have already completed their first service project, which was serving lunch to the 25 high school bands who participated in Homecoming events.

Pledges from Missouri are Cindy Beigel, Smithville; Karen Caivert, Richmond; Linda Luttrell, Chillicothe; Teddie Pottorff and Liz Richardson, Hatfield; Sissie Pettijohn, Union Star; Joyce Potts, Kansas City; and Connie Lewellen and Jeanette Manning, Maryville. Iowa pledges are Karen Tribble, Bedford; Patti Tritsch, Braddyville; and Kar-

Deltas Plan Union Teach-In, Town Parade

A teach-in and a parade for peace through Maryville will be conducted today by Delta in conjunction with the nationwide November Moratorium for peace.

The purpose of these activities as stated by Eric Johansen, Delta president, are: "The days of Nov. 13 and 14 have been designated as a time to stop and reflect in our involvement in Vietnam. There are a large number of people in the United States that believe military action is not the answer to world problems. On our campus, Moratorium Days have been organized so that the people having views may express them and those people having questions may find some of the answers."

Corley to Lead Off

Mr. Roger Corley, assistant professor of social science, will start the teach-in with the first of nine speeches to be presented in the Union Ballroom. He will present a brief speech entitled "The History Of U. S. Involvement in Vietnam." The procedure for the day's teach-in calls for each speaker to field questions and lead a discussion on his topic after he has presented it.

Teach-in Schedule

The schedule for today's teach-in is as follows:

- 10 a. m. — Mr. Roger Corley, "History of U. S. Involvement"
- 11 a. m. — Mr. James DeMarce, "The Congressional Role in the War"
- 1 p. m. — Mrs. Stephen Robbins, "Psychological Aspects"
- 1:30 p. m. — Miss Patricia Van Dyke, "War Poetry"
- 2 p. m. — The Rev. Paul Hunt, "Moral Implications of the War"

Others scheduled to speak, although they have not submitted their topic for discussion, are Pat Thompson, Mr. Robert Nagle, Mr. John Samson, and Mr. Charles Aycock.

At 3 p. m. a march will be held starting east of campus and will proceed to the east side of the town square. At the square a speaker, Mr. Jim Burkfall, a vice president of the New Democratic Coalition Movement from St. Joseph, will address the crowd. At the end of his speech, a dove, representing peace, will be released.

en Weller, Conway.

The officers of the pledge class include Karen Weller, president; Teddie Pottorff, vice president; Joyce Potts, secretary; and Karen Calvert, treasurer.

College Veterans Offered Services

Any veteran enrolled at Northwest Missouri State is eligible for veteran's counseling and testing at any time, according to Dr. Lloyd Moughler of the Counseling Center.

Vocational and educational counseling are offered to assist veterans in making career plans and to assist those who are doubtful about their college major or definitely desire a change of major. Testing is available in the areas of ability, aptitudes, and interests to aid the student in a better understanding of his capabilities.

If a veteran wants to initiate counseling, he should contact Dr. Moughler in Room 208 of the Administration Building or call him at 582-3353 for an appointment. Dr. Moughler will notify the Veterans Administration Regional Office in order that formal approval for counseling may be obtained. Costs of counseling and testing are covered by the Veterans Administration.

Currently those referred for counseling are the sons and daughters of deceased or disabled veterans and veterans who request counseling before

Music Faculty to Give Recital

Four Northwest Missouri State College music instructors will present this year's initial faculty recital, beginning at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the Charles Johnson Theater.

Dr. John L. Smay, clarinetist, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Jane Sandford, pianist, will play "Sonata for Clarinet and Piano" by Arnold; "Five Bagatelles for Clarinet and Piano" by Finzi, and "Sonata for Clarinet and Piano" by Poulenc.

In the second part of the program, Miss Margaret Ann Bush will accompany Mr. Gilbert Whitney, baritone, as he sings various early Italian arias including Torelli's "Tu Lo Soi." His second selection, "The Tides of Sleep," by Hailey, features a symphonic setting of some messages taken from Thomas Wolfe's "Death and the Proud Brothers." A group of songs chosen to show the style and coloristic effects of composers and their contemporary American writings will conclude the recital.

TKE Awarded Spirit Trophy

David Harrison and Bruce Stadlman accept the spirit trophy on behalf of Tau Kappa Epsilon. The trophy was awarded in recognition of the fraternity's display of enthusiasm during the 1969 football season.

INVESTMENT SEMINAR

The first of three educational meetings on investment fundamentals, techniques, and recommendations will be held for the public at the J. W. Jones Building in the Sycamore Room on Nov. 19, beginning at 7:00 p.m.

Open Letter — To MSC Students

We, the Collegiate Republican Club of NWMSC, in this time of moratoriums and other demonstrations, wish to make known our opinion on the issue of the Vietnam war.

First, let us state that we support the demonstrators' right to demonstrate their beliefs peacefully. The right to dissent is inherent in American democracy. However, we believe that the policies of the present administration were set forth for the security and welfare of the people of the United States. We support the policy of a gradual reduction of U. S. military commitments as opposed to complete immediate withdrawal.

Therefore, we urge all people associated with this campus to support the present administration's efforts to end the Vietnam war.

Wrestling Season To Open at MSC

With six returning lettermen and a good deal of promising new talent, the Bearcats are looking toward a successful wrestling season.

Coach Gary Collins, who is in his third year at the helm of the wrestling squad, will find his job a little easier with such lettermen as junior Wayne Garcia, who wrestles in the 134 lb. class; senior Stan Zeamer, 142 class; and Terry Hostetter, a sophomore, who weighs in at 158 lbs., on hand for competition.

Garcia and Zeamer are the defending MIAA champions in their weight classes. Zeamer is also a co-captain on the squad this year. Hostetter finished

MIAA Title Hopes Shattered

Conference title hopes, within grasp for the first time in years, were irrevocably shattered for the "psyched" Bearcats last weekend by the determined Miners of University of Missouri at Rolla.

Disappointed but realistic, head gridiron mentor Ivan Schottel commented on the 20-8 loss: "I really believe Rolla is one of the best teams we have faced this year."

Turning Point

Breaks for the 'Cats were sparse, but bad luck was a regular companion—five Bearcat passes were intercepted; two fumbles lost. From Coach Schottel's vantage point the turning point in the game came when the 'Cats came to a grinding halt on the Rolla 15-yard line, where the Miners took possession and marched down field with the aid of a 45-yard Pat Goodwin (Q) to Bob Berry (FB) pass combination.

The Bearcats struck ore only once—late in the third quarter. A lateral from quarterback Steve Schottel to first time starter John Stoll, Stanberry, netted the 'Cats the initial base for their total of eight points. Steve McCluskey converted around left end for the final two points.

The game against the Kirksville Bulldogs this weekend will make or break the Bearcats. Standing 2-2 in the MIAA, a win will net the MSC squad a successful conference season. Overall they now stand at 3-5.
